Rebecca : Did you see Cathy's dress?

Mary : No. How was it?

Rebecca : I thought it was not good. She couldn't choose between two dresses. So she asked for my opinion. To tell the truth, I thought both were so bad.

Mary : (1)

Rebecca : Cathy was so excited about the party. And it had already taken her two hours just to select those two out of 50 dresses.

Mary : (2)

Rebecca : Sure she did. Then she asked me which of the two I liked better. One was a very short purple dress with a lot of strange stones on it and the other was a loose-fitting dress like pajamas.

Mary : (3)

Rebecca : Well, I told her the purple dress suited her better.

Mary : (4)

Rebecca : I think so. At least she was finally able to decide on the dress. But the problem is the dress I recommended cost her 1,400 dollars.

Mary : (5)

Rebecca : I didn't want to hurt Cathy's feelings. That's all.

Mary : But you certainly hurt her finances.

ア It's very expensive, and you really think it's an awful dress!

イ You mean she tried on all of them?

ウ Then why didn't you tell her so?

エ Which did you say was better?

オ Was she happy about it?

(注) loose-fitting だぶだぶの finances 家計 awful ひどい
